The sphinx is a mythical creature with the head of a human and the body of a lion. It is often found guarding the entrances of ancient Egyptian tombs and temples.

Why were sphinxes made?
Sphinxes were made to guard the entrances of tombs and temples. They were believed to have the power to protect the dead from evil spirits.

Where are they found?
Sphinxes are found in many places in Egypt, including the Great Sphinx of Giza and the Sphinxes of Tanis.

Let's go into the galleries and think about sphinxes!

Origin and nature of Egyptian hieroglyphs

According to Egyptian mythology, Thoth (an Egyptian god of writing, magic, wisdom, and the moon) created writing to make Egyptians wiser. However, it was believed that Ra, the first god, disagreed with Thoth, arguing that hieroglyphs would make the memory of the human being weaker.

Ra stated that men would depend on engraving information rather than memorizing it. Thoth did not agree with Ra's opinion and gave a select number of Egyptians the techniques of writing. The scribes were the chosen people who had the knowledge and skill to use the gift of the gods.

Scribes wrote and kept accounts of Egyptian society and government.

The first hieroglyph sentence was written on a vessel found in the tomb of Seth-Peribsen at Umm el-Qa'ab. It is stated that the first hieroglyph sentence goes back to the 28th or 27th century BC. Historians say that there were nearly 800 hieroglyphs discovered in the tomb.

A cemetery in Abydos was discovered that dated back to 3100 BC.
